Skipper Claire Leroy, 24, is a business student.

Ingrid Cerrato, 27, is a quality engineer.

Julie Gerecht, 24, is a member of the French Navy.

Julie Bossard, 18, is an engineering student.

This team is half of a new eight-woman team established in July of 2003 for match racing. The crew, all under the age of 25 with the exception of Ingrid, also is developing another program in the Mumm 30 class, which will get under way in September.

Since last September the women have won the Grade 1 match-race event in Lago di Ledro, Italy; the Grade 1 event in St. Petersburg, Florida; the Rolex Osprey Cup; and a Grade 4 open event in France.

“We like good food and good drink, we love life, and we adore having a good time,” says Claire. “Laughing is very important to us. And we hope to have a good result at the Worlds in Annapolis this year.”
